PEABODY HIGH SCHOOL

Petersburg, Virginia

DEDICATION

Because of her many years of service at Peabody High School--
Because of her conscientious, lovable, and devoted nature as a teacher--
Because of her helpfulness to many deserving students--
And because of her outstanding spirit of friendliness to all,
We dedicate this book, the Peabody Lion of 1959,
to
MRS. BESSIE G. KING.

FOREWORD

With gratitude to the administration of our public school system, our principal, teachers, parents, and friends, we, the members of the Class of 1959, the first to graduate under the five-year curriculum, proudly highlight in this volume memorable events; outstanding personages; artistic portrayals; literary gems; historical facts; and educational achievements.

The staff of this annual hopes that the experience of thumbing through the pages which follow will give you memorable moments of pleasure and provide a review of events during the past school year.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

Dear Seniors,

We hear so much these days about the conquest of outer space and unexplored planets until one's thoughts might become a bit diffused--if not confused-- about the necessity for continuing to keep one's eye on the things at hand.

Recently I was interested to read a very stabilizing statement, written three centuries ago, by Pascal, A French philosopher and mathematician. He had this to say:

"It is not from space that I must seek my dignity, but from the government of my thought. I shall have no more if I possess worlds. By space the universe encompasses and swallows me up like an atom; by thought I comprehend the world."

Seniors, thinking from Pascal's point of view, which I am sure must be the point of view of many in this great nation of ours, today may we settle down a bit more peacefully to the things at hand knowing that the "government of my thought" will always constitute the true government of the world.

MOTTO

God, our leader; Wisdom, our aid Success, our goal.

POEM

Dear Peabody High we love thee,
With all our hearts we do.
Tearfully we say good-bye,
We'll always remember you.

We'll miss our teachers, so dear so true,
Our campus so fresh and green.
We'll miss the many friends we made
And let nothing come between.

We've learned so much within your walls;
We'll never find the words to tell.
We'll miss you so, now we must go,
Farewell, Peabody Farewell.

Dear Peabody, we know
Time has come to go.
Though with you we dwell,
Soon the time will come
We must say, farewell.

To parents, teachers, friends
We are near the end.
We thank you for the way
You've led us to this day
At dear ole P.H.S.

Though we hate to leave,
We feel at ease
When we think of you
Our dear school,
That led us by the rule
For five long years.

Close to our hearts you'll be
Through eternity,
So we pause to say
Now's the time to pay
Our last respects to you.

HISTORY

Now as the time approaches for us to leave Peabody High School, we look back to the years we have spent here with some regret that all we can take with us is the memory of many happy times together.

We can remember when we first entered the halls of Peabody High School. We were the first class to enter under the five-year plan. After we were settled in our respective homerooms and classes, we entered many extra-curricular activities. Among the clubs and organizations we joined were the New Homemakers of America, the Library Club, the Science Club, the Journalism Club, the Safety Patrol, the Choir, the Pep Club, the Dramatics Club, the Band, the Baseball team, the Football team and the Projection Crew.

Jacqueline Richardson was elected Chaplain of the Student Council and Reporter of the New Homemakers of America. Ramona Scott was elected Secretary of the Library Club, Robert Barner was elected treasurer of the Projection Crew and Lee Fields was elected President of his homeroom.

Doris Hawkins, Jacqueline Richardson, and Robert Barner attended the State Student Council Convention. Joyce A. Brown, Jacqueline Richardson, Annette Duncan, Anjean Carter, Gloria Whorl, and Janice Smith attended the Science and Math Conference.

Lorraine Morgan won fourth place in the Omega Talent Hunt Show which was held at Virginia State College.

As we entered our Freshman year, we felt more confident of ourselves and many of us made the honor roll. Under the direction of our sponsors Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Allen, and Mr. McKinley, we elected as our class officers, Annette Duncan, President; Robert Barner, Vice-President; Anjean Carter, Secretary; and Joyce A. Brown, Treasurer.

More of us joined and participated actively in clubs and organizations. Robert Barner was elected State Treasurer of the Industrial Arts Conference.

By the time we were entering our third year at Peabody we felt very sophisticated and independent. By this time we had become very active members of all phases of life at Peabody High School. Many of us attended conferences and festivals, and those who participated in athletics made us proud.

For the first time in our high school career, we came together as a class to plan a public activity. We prepared and presented a Sophomore Day program which met with great success.

As time went by we became more and more a part of Peabody and it became a part of us.

With our junior year came the excitement of the prom. We took as our theme Oriental Gardens and as we prepared for the big night, the tension and excitement mounted. When finally the night came we danced and danced; We hated the time when we would sing Auld Lang Syne and say goodnight.

But of course, the prom wasn't our only Junior activity. On Junior Day, we presented to the student body a mock trial with Bad English as the defendant. We also ordered and received our class rings in our Junior year. Since we were the first class at Peabody to get rings in the Junior year, naturally we were proud.

We did not spend all our time having fun, however. Most of our energy went into our lessons. We found classroom subjects more advanced and therefore we learned to study harder. Some of us won honors at the District and State Science and Mathematics Conference and many of us took the National Merit and Scholarship Qualifying test and the Intercollegiate Scholarship Examination.

Finally and with triumph, we reached our Senior year. This is the year we had been looking forward to since we had entered Peabody High School in the eighth grade.

Our Senior year has been our busiest. First in our minds was Senior Day. For our Senior Day program, we invited Mr. David Gunter of Virginia State College as the guest speaker on our program. He did three marvelous poetic interpretations. We felt that our program was very much a success.

Next the yearbook came to our minds. We elected a staff to guide us and started working hard. Unlike most Senior classes of Peabody, we will not receive our yearbooks before school closes, because we wish to have our commencement and baccalaureate pictures in it.

Our class play was next on our agenda. We selected "Meet Me In St. Louis" and in spite of the short time we had to practice, the play was done beautifully. The members of the cast worked extremely hard, as did the stage managers, directors, and costume managers.

This year the prom was given by the Juniors. We only had to relax, dance and enjoy a wonderful Mardi Gras.

The approaching Class Day made us scuffle to get a program planned, a gift for the school decided upon, and many other details worked out.

During our Senior year, we were also buckling down to our lessons and preparing for graduation. We were also busy filling out applications for colleges and taking scholarship exams. Among the scholarship exams that we took were the University-Wide Scholarship Examination offered by Howard University and the Intercollegiate Scholarship Examination.

On Honor's Day, many of us received recognitions and awards for outstanding scholastic work, and athletic and organizational participation.

Now as we say farewell to Peabody, our hearts are sad, but we will always have memories of our dear school, Peabody High.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the Senior Class of Peabody High School of the city of Petersburg, and the state of Virginia, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Nine-Hundred and Fifty-nine, having been declared by our teachers to be of unsound minds and as having fun-loving, but kind hearts, do make, publish, and declare this our last Will and Testament in the manner following:

FIRST: To our school, we leave the peace and quiet of our absence.

SECOND: To our principal, teachers, and parents, we leave our sincere appreciation for their loyalty, guidance, and kind assistance throughout our five years of strenuous toil and study.

THIRD: To our senior sponsors and senior class teachers, we leave the satisfaction of knowing that we are sincerely grateful for what they have done for us.

FOURTH: To the Juniors, we leave our mantle of dignity which as seniors they are expected to fill even though we know they never will. We leave them, also, all our rights and privileges as Seniors.

FIFTH: To the Sophomores, we leave the courage to face their junior and senior courses.

SIXTH: To the Freshmen, we leave our fondest hopes and best wishes; they'll need them.

SEVENTH: To the Eighth graders, we leave the comfort of knowing that they'll some day be seniors: even though they may be doubtful at times.

EIGHTH: We leave certain belongings which we feel are fitting and proper to some of our beloved fellow-Peabodians.

I, ARITA ALLEN, will my height to Vernetta Cox.

I, ROBERT BARNER, will my easy-going way and my ability to stay still to Joe Crews in hope that he will cool down.

I, RUBY BLAND, leave my hair styles to Mary Byrd and Bertha Edwards.

I, RUTH BRAGG, will my 22-inch waistline to anyone who has a 39-inch one.

I, DORIS HAWKINS, will my voice to Shirley Bugg providing she takes time out from her gossiping with Florence Jones to sing.

I, RUTH WILLIAMS, will my ability to gain weight to Ruth Royall.

I, GLORIA WALKER, will my ability to play the clarinet to Lillian Curley in hope that she will play and not fake.

I, BRENDA FOWLKES, pass on the majorette suit left to me by Nellie Conwell to Ruth Royall with the stipulation that she becomes able to fill it.

I, LEE FIELDS, leave my ability to be contrary at all times to Lee Taylor.

I, MARION MOORE, leave peace and quiet to Homeroom 138.

I, CARL WILLIAMS, leave my ability to pass French 3 to Wilmar Parham and my ability to get a driver's license to John Eichelberger.

I, LULA HARRIS, will my seat in the Senior class to Miles Sutton in case they run out by the time he gets that far.

I, GRACE JONES, will the Homecoming Crown to Esther Turner.

I, CAMILLA MALLOY, will Raymond Pegram to the Junior girls provided they let Joann McDaniel and Effie Smith have him most of the time.

I, JACQUELINE RICHARDSON, leave my favorite expression, "I know and I don't know," to all students who plan to take chemistry in the future.

I, JANICE SMITH, will my ability to share things and be a good sport about it to Deborah Stewart.

I, GLORIA WHORL, will my ability to keep one boy friend to Shirley Bugg.

I, EVA SMITH, leave my ability to get along with other people to Florence Jones.

I, JOYCE BROWN, leave my parking to anyone who has the ability to get out of tight spots with ease.

I, MARION BROWN, leave Eddie Parham and Leonard Shands to any girl who is willing to stand in the cold after each game.

I, TONI GORDON, will my ability to pantomime to Zelma Thompson.

I, ANJEAN CARTER, leave Paul Jones, along with my deepest sympathy, to my sister Gayle Carter.

I, LONNIE CHAVIS, will my size to Lewis Turner with the provision that he doesn't use it to bounce people around.

I, ANNETTE DUNCAN, bequeath my ability to sing alto in the choir to Joyce Dillard.

I, DION DIAMOND, will my ability to talk my way out of almost any ja n to the frequently caught Jimmy Williams and Ricardo Sherrod.

I, JUNIUS DILLARD, leave my football uniform to Horace Brooks.

I, MEADE FITZGERALD, leave my baseball suit to Leonard Walker and my football shoes to Simon Dickerson providing his feet shrink.

I, THEODORE JACKSON, leave my membership in the Medallions to Willis Brown.

I, HERBERT JOHNSON, leave my football suit to Robert Brown providing that he loses weight.

I, GARNELL WILKERSON, leave my voice to Joseph Harper and my saxophone to Patricia Hill.

I, IDA FOY, will a few pounds to Ruth Royall and my ability to smile to Esther Turner.

I, JOYCE GOODE, will my shape to Florence Jones and to Ella Mae Hatchette, the bequest going to the one who claims it first.

I, DOROTHY TURNER, leave my cool temper to Florence Turner.

I, DALE STARKES, leave my smooth skin to Esther Turner if she places it on evenly.

I, LORRAINE MORGAN, leave my comb and brush to Ruth Royall and my job in the cafeteria to Mary Byrd, with the provision that she will stop talking to the boys for a half an hour.

I, JOHN BROWN, will my ability to study to Joe Crews and his friends providing that they stay at school long enough.

I, JOHNNY BELL, will my ability to learn Spanish to Willie Henderson.

I, JAMES THOMAS, will my quietness to Edward Bracy.

I, CLINTON TAYLOR, leave nothing because I want to keep all that I have.

I, RAMONA SCOTT, leave my best wishes to every student at Peabody.

LASTLY: We the class of 1959, hereby appoint the class of 1960 executors of this our last Will and Testament, revoking all former wills and testamentary instruments made by us.

PROPHECY

As we look into the office of Grace Jones, a prominent New York psychiatrist, the intercom busses. She answers and hears the crisp, efficient voice of her assistant, Doris Hawkins, R. N., announce, "A former classmate of ours is here to see you, Dr. Jones. It is Dion Diamond."

"Thank you, Miss Hawkins; send him right in."

"Oh, Dion, I am so happy to see you! Is this a professional or a social call?"

"Well, Grace, of course I'm glad to see you; but this is a professional call."

"Lie down on the couch and relax. Now what is troubling you?"

"I'll start from the beginning. You see, I'm working on a new project. I was working on Alpha Zeta atomic rays, and one day as I was experimenting with a new method of synchro-cyclotronizing the rays in the laboratory. Suddenly a bright light flashed before me and I collapsed. When I came to, I thought I had collapsed from overwork. I thought the bright light was my imagination."

That night I had the strangest dream--or was it a dream? I can't really tell. In the dream, I walked down a long corridor; as I approached the end of the corridor, I saw three doors. They were labeled PAST, PRESENT, AND FUTURE. Curiosity prompted me to enter the FUTURE.

As I entered the door, a series of visions flashed before me. The first vision revealed Brenda Fowlkes and Annette Duncan, who started out as history teachers, but became interested in Archaeology and Geology, digging in the Sahara Desert looking for earth formations that would reveal the history of the missing link. Meanwhile, Johnny Bell was standing by to make a pictorial record. He had finished taking a series of pictures of an achievement in architecture financed by the wealthy Dr. James Thomas and designed by the firm of John Brown and Theodore Jackson for Gloria Whorl's recuperation Center for Paralytics.

Another vision appeared and I saw Meade Fitzgerald who had become wealthy from playing professional football with the Washington Redskins. He was taking Jack Dillard and his Peabody Lions to see two former classmates of theirs with the Harlem Globetrotters, Lonnie Chavis, coach, and Marion "Preach" Moore, star center.

Still another vision appeared revealing Toni Gordon in the audience of the presidential inauguration; unknown to the public, she was acting as an International Intelligence Agent. She was investigating a rumor that the president was to be assassinated. Even though she had many friends, she suspected everyone including Garnell Wilkerson, who was singing "You'll Never Walk Alone", and his clarinet accompanist, Gloria Walker, and even Eva Smith, his private nurse. I saw Arita Allen, secretary to the president, on the day following the inauguration announcing Ramona Scott and Lorraine Morgan. The president, aware of Ramona's linguistic abilities, appointed Ramona as official interpreter to the United Nations. Next, he appointed Lorraine as a teacher in the School for Senate Page Boys.

The next vision appeared and I saw Robert Barner, a regular customer in the barber shop of Ruth Williams, getting a haircut and a shave. He was telling her that the television network that he was connected with was sponsoring an "Airline Hostess of the Year" program and that Ruby Bland had been named. He told Ruth of a beautiful wardrobe that Jacqueline Richardson was designing; a new hair style that Dale Starkes was creating; and of a new shade of lipstick that Dorothy Turner had created for Ruby. As a grandprize, a luscious country estate was being prepared for her by Lula Harris, a real estate agent. Just as he was telling Ruth how busy the network secretaries Marion Brown, Ida Foy, and Joyce Goode were sending out orders and invitations so that the program would be perfect, Carl Williams and Herbert Johnson came into the shop and took seats. Carl told Robert and Ruth that "Easy Can Company, of which he is manager, had just employed a new accountant. Ruth and Robert were surprised when they found out that this new accountant was none other than Ruth Bragg. Herbert spoke up and reminded them all that he was an excellent brick mason. They all laughed and Herbert replied, "It never hurts to drum up some business."

My last vision opened with a sketch of a dynamic new jet automobile. Clinton Taylor was sitting at the drawing board with Janice Smith hovering over him. Clinton wanted Janice to use some of her knowledge as a research chemist to refine a suitable fuel for his jet mobile, but Janice was more interested in Clinton.

Meanwhile, Lee Fields and Joyce Brown were in a public library having a friendly discussion. Lee, arguing as usual, was insisting that Clinton's new jet mobile did not need fuel, but could be run entirely by electronics. Joyce felt that it was mathematically impossible to run that car without fuel because of the way the engine was located and designed. Just as the discussion was getting out of hand, the assistant supervisor of the library, Cardwell Clarke, who was in the process of asking Anjean Carter to return a book, Thesis of Human Sociology, which was almost a year overdue, came over to Lee and Joyce and said, "why don't you confer with Camilla Malloy? After all, she is making a study of the relationship between mathematics and electronics!"

"Yes, go on, Dion. What happened then?" urged Grace.

"And then I woke up. I've had this dream every night since that day in the laboratory. Grace, what does it all mean?"

"It means that we should have a Class Reunion to find out if these people are doing these things; and if they are, you probably have discovered a way to see into the future."

"And, what if they aren't doing these things?"

"Then, Dion, may I suggest that you see a good psychiatrist."

Congratulations Graduates!

Although now you are graduates, you can do a great service for the rest of us, if you never cease to be students--looking for opportunities and ways to cherish the American system of free enterprise and to improve the American way of life. You can be thankful for free schools in a country where you are free to worship and work and think and talk as you please. This is your heritage from the people who built America.

THE FUTURE is pretty largely in your hands--you must be vigilant and active to combat the evils of socialism, government domination of private industry, and all the "isms" that destroy democracy. The challenge is yours--meet it!
